

ROAD PROJECTS SOON TO START

County Office Completing Surveys for Two WPA Highway Jobs in County.

Preliminary surveys of the county sponsored WPA road projects are being completed and work on the jobs is expected to start under way early next week. County Surveyor Earl R. Tozzer reported today. The surveyor also reported that a third project started about four weeks ago. Projects being prepared for next week are the Eapsville road (county road No. 4) south of the LaRue-Prospect road and Merchant avenue outside the east city limits between state route No. 20 and Indiana Avenue.

Work on the Eapsville road will consist of widening the embankment about one-quarter mile and widening the approach to the "twin bridges" over the Scioto. Merchant avenue a mud road will be converted into a macadam road with stone bed ditches and berms will be improved to correspond with the changed road way. The surveyor was unable to say how many men the WPA will employ. Eight miles of roadway will be improved. Work consists of widening the road, improving the ditches and widening bridges and berms.

The high cost of dirt is holding up a third county road project—improvement on the Linn Highway road north of Caledonia. The project calls for widening and improvement of a dyke along the Wheelstone river. Dirt for the fill must be furnished by the county. Mr. Tozzer said.

Start of the job depends upon how soon dirt may be purchased at a reasonable figure he added. Several additional projects are ready to be started. Mr. Tozzer said but will have to be held up until necessary road equipment can be taken from jobs now under way. The county is handicapped by limited equipment he explained.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Eyes. Recently I told you about the importance of early attention to eyes and especially the need of glasses for children who have defective vision. You will recall that emphasis was placed upon the importance of early care for youngsters who do not see well.

Today I want to tell you more about the care of the eyes. I shall point out the importance of measures that should be used by child and adult alike. Serious damage to the eyes results from negligence, from absolute carelessness in the care of these vital organs. Many serious and permanent defects in vision may be prevented.

Infection is the most common danger to the eyes. Too often this is caused by rubbing the eyes with soiled fingers or may come from exposure to irritating substances such as dust, wind and chemicals. Lowered resistance of the body which can be traced to a lack of Vitamin A in the diet.

Fortunately infections of the eyes are rarely dangerous but they are exceedingly painful and annoying. But the infection may be more serious in its nature and if neglected may lead to permanent damage to the eyes. For example trachoma (granulated eyelids) is such a disease. This is highly contagious, easily spread from one individual to another.

Sty is another common ailment due to infection. Here too the underlying cause may be lack of cleanliness and proper hygiene of the eyes. Let me warn against touching the eyes or eyelids when the fingers are soiled, especially if contaminated by handling filthy objects.

Repeated attacks of styes should arouse the suspicion of some general disorder. Complete medical examination is advised when this condition persists.

In former years the eyes were subjected to many hardships in industry. I am glad to say that today as a result of certain legislative measures with the cooperation of employers this menace has been greatly lessened. Shields, hood glasses and other protective devices are used.

There are many ways to guard the eyes. The most important is to keep the eyes clean and free from irritation. Use only clean water and avoid rubbing the eyes. If you have a stye or other eye ailment, see a doctor at once. Do not use any home remedies. The eyes are very delicate and need special care. If you have a family history of eye disease, be especially careful. Regular eye examinations are important. If you wear glasses, have them checked regularly. If you have a change in vision, see a doctor. Do not drive a car if your vision is impaired. The eyes are the windows to the soul. Keep them clear and bright.

Books Are Interesting Hobby of Marion Man

Below is one of a series of articles on hobbies, written by a member of the Marion Hobby Club in connection with the club's annual hobby and book exhibit which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. May 13-15 under the patronage of the Y. M. C. A. the Kiwanis, Rotary and Hobby clubs and the public and parochial schools.

C. H. Allen of 428 South State street has a hobby, but for a long time he didn't know it. In the following personal story, Mr. Allen tells of his experiences as a hobbyist.

"I had been told that my hobby is books. I did not know that it was and to prove it, or disprove it, I consulted the dictionary and when I read one who has a hobby or in other words 'to do a hobby' was one who followed a favorite pursuit for no other purpose than the enjoyment he got out of it, I confessed to myself books were 'my hobby.' I do dearly like books, as does a friend of mine of long standing whom I have often noticed, when I was visiting him in his library, take down a fine specimen from its place in line among the others. He would handle it carefully, call attention to the beauty of its binding and clearness of the type and printing.

"Now, I would not have you think he was so wrapped up in the beauty of the volume that he did not consider the value of its inside contents. In fact, just the opposite was the governing idea in his purchases.

"He was not a man of wealth when I first became acquainted with him; so he had to study very carefully his purchases and consequently he considered very carefully the contents of the volumes he bought rather than their beauty. But he was always pleased when he got a book that combined beauty with utility.

"One of the great troubles of the real book hobbyist is to settle at an early stage upon what he desires to collect and then to confine himself to that line.

"This is easier said than done. A young man, or a young woman, is not always in a position to know his or her desires on the subject.

"Shall the books to be collected over a life time be those relating to literature, or art, or biography, or science? Then, there are innumerable subdivisions of these groups. The field is vast, almost incomprehensible. Who can tell just where his tastes shall lead him? And then our ideas change as we grow older and what we considered very important in our younger days may become worthless later. I remember distinctly in the early stages of my hobby, I considered only novels important, while today I seldom buy a novel. I would not want to fill my already overflowing book shelves with them. The friend whom I have mentioned very early in his career as a book collector, through a chance buy of a Life of Lincoln, became very much interested in that noted man's career and began to devote his efforts to obtaining a copy of every book written about him. He took up a correspondence with the authors and publishers and made himself familiar with every phase of Lincoln's wonderful and amazing career. He traveled to his birthplace in Kentucky, followed the path of his youthful travels through Indiana into Illinois, then made a journey to Washington and back to Springfield, Ill., gathering books and pamphlets on his favorite subject until he had the best and most complete Lincoln library in the state of Ohio.

"Through the interest he took in his hobby he made many warm and delightful friends all over the country and being a lawyer he was courted by these friends to take up a phase of Lincoln's career that seemed to have been overlooked, that of Lincoln as a lawyer.

"More people follow book hobbies than any other hobby. That is a pretty strong statement and likely to be disputed, but when you take into consideration that not only individuals are engaged in this interesting undertaking, but towns, counties, cities, states, and even governments. There is hardly a town of more than a thousand inhabitants but has its library. One of the beauty spots of the city of Washington is the magnificent library of congress, a monument to book hobbyists.

"Our hobby covers all known knowledge and much that is not knowledge. It embraces in its wide and sheltering arms not only all things concerning earthly matters but also the thought and ideas of myriads of people that transcend those things beyond earthly matters. It defines one of the boundary lines between civilization and barbarism. No savage ever collected a library.

"The dues are very small and the benefits are many, but once you join you remain a member for life."

CHINA RAIDS OPIUM DEFIERS

China dealt a hard blow at the opium habit when it expelled the Japanese consulate in a raid against proprietors of opium saloons who tried to thwart the government by selling places in the names of Koreans or other citizens of the Japanese empire. Police found 12 such places in Peking where gambling reigned on the ground floor and opium smoking upstairs. In company with officials from the Japanese consulate the Chinese police raided five of the places, and arrested 14 men and 12 women. All claimants to Japanese citizenship were turned over to the Japanese officials. The cleanup is declared to be the greatest ever held in the city.

BILL TAKES RAP AT CHAIN STORE

Senate Approved Measure Aims To Curb Effect of "Bigness" in Retailing Field.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Independent merchants yesterday scored their most important legislative victory in years as the Robinson-Patman "anti-chain store" bill sailed to passage in the senate on a voice vote.

Passage of a companion bill by the house is expected within the next week of two, putting both branches of congress on record as favoring legislative restrictions on the advantages of "bigness" in the merchandising and distribution of commodities.

Accept All Changes
The senate's vote came after sponsors of the measure agreed to accept virtually every amendment in sight to speed passage. This was done with the explicit understanding, however, that all of these amendments might be tossed out when the house and senate bills get into conference.

Action was hastened by a strong sensational urge to see yesterday's ball game and to take advantage of an offer by Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, majority leader and chief Senate sponsor of the bill, of a Friday to Monday recess in reward for passage.

All the amendments were designed to curtail the scope of the bill. The most important of these, offered by Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, and accepted by Robinson with misgivings, presumably would go a long way toward drawing the fire of a large number of business opponents to the bill.

Example home
The Vandenberg amendment would exempt from the quantity discount provisions of the measure all commodities "sold in furtherance of a new product to be sold to the public." The amendment was intended to place it in "constant jeopardy." It said the bill originally was intended to reach only retail business.

Without this amendment, Vandenberg contended, the bill would put the automobile industry "potentially at the mercy of the federal trade commission" and place it in "constant jeopardy." He said the bill originally was intended to reach only retail business.

"That was my idea," conceded Sen. M. M. Logan, Democrat of Kentucky, chairman of a judiciary sub-committee which favorably reported the measure, "but we need to make it general; we feared that if we started to make exemptions we might run into difficulties with the supreme court."

Vandenberg's proposal was rejected on a voice vote, but he later persuaded Robinson to accept it and agree to take it to conference.

One of Main Features
The quantity discount provision is one of the bill's three main features. It would authorize the federal trade commission to set a limit on discounts made by sellers to purchasers on account of the quantity of commodities purchased.

The principle provisions are prohibitions against "unfair" allowances by sellers for advertising and for brokerage.

Sen. Warren A. Austin, Republican of Vermont, succeeded in writing into the bill an amendment exempting perishable goods from a provision restricting variances in price at which a given commodity is sold in different communities.

An amendment by Sen. William H. King, Democrat of Utah, would eliminate minerals from operation of the bill, while others were designed to protect milk producers in meeting competition by varying their prices in different communities.

Chief objective of the bill's sponsors is to protect independent merchants from the inroads of chain stores and mail order houses, by curtailing special concessions which the large purchasers are able to obtain from manufacturers and other producers by reason of their huge purchases.

BRITAIN'S NAVY ASKS $51,500,000 MORE
Wants To Bolster Fleet and Continue Protection Started by African War.

By International News Service
LONDON, May 1.—First of an anticipated series of budget estimates for national defense was made public yesterday when the British admiralty called for an additional $51,500,000.

Viscount Monnell, first lord of the admiralty, explained that the money was needed to make a start in the naval construction program already authorized for 1935 and to continue the protective measures necessitated by the Italo-Ethiopian war, which caused Britain to maintain a huge fleet of warships in the Mediterranean.

To Build 30 Ships
He said the funds would provide also for other rearmament measures outlined in the government's white paper on defense measures early last month.

Fifty million dollars will be devoted to starting construction of two new British battleships, five cruisers, nine destroyers, one aircraft carrier and twenty-two smaller naval vessels, Viscount Monnell explained.

He further stated the supplementary funds will enable the admiralty to begin important improvements in ammunition, fuel stocks and other stores, re-equipment of the fleet's air arm and supply of anti-aircraft guns to the fleet.

For Singapore Base
He said an additional $10,000,000 will be spent on Britain's Singapore naval base, while four cruisers of the Hawkins class, which were to be scrapped under the London naval treaty, will be retained.

Three of the cruisers will have 7.5-inch guns replaced by guns of less than 6.1-inch caliber. The fourth will be used for training purposes.

THREE QUESTIONS LISTED FOR WATER REFERENDUM

only persons who have held out the possibility of a rate reduction are representatives of two bond houses interested in the purchase. Indications are that Marion's present rates, among the highest in the state, probably will be continued at least several years if the city takes over the plant. The minimum of $18 a year for domestic users is $6.00 higher than the average minimum bill in cities surveyed by The Star. In the first bracket of the Marion rate schedule the cost of 100 cubic feet of water is 45 cents as compared with an average of 22 cents in the cities surveyed.

Income Analyses
Any study of the prospective income under municipal operation must take into account the effect of a sharp rate increase in 1935 on the private company's income. In the last 10 years, The increase was followed by loss of most of the industrial consumers and a resultant shift to domestic and commercial consumers of the burden of paying the company a profit.

Industries paid the company 35 per cent of its total revenue in 1935 — the percentage dropped steadily until it stood at three and one-half per cent last year. The increase in rates, plus the loss of industrial consumers and the tendency of commercial and domestic consumers to use less water under the high rates caused an 85 per cent drop in the gallonage of water pumped annually. In 1925 the gallonage was 938,740,400. In 1935 it was 351,339,000.

These developments resulted in the city and its water users paying the company 55 cents a thousand gallons for all water pumped last year whereas in 1925 that figure had been 15 cents. The fact that the corresponding figures for the seven cities surveyed was 18 cents in 1935 indicates that Marion probably was on a near-normal basis in 1925 when industrial consumers paid a third of the water company's income and Marion residents used water freely.

Marion water users paid an average of $29 each to the company in return for an average of 54,319 gallons of water in 1935. In the cities surveyed by The Star, the average consumer paid $21 and received 125,492 gallons of water — more than twice as much water for $8 less money.

Difficult Problem
Waterworks experts said the situation in Marion would be difficult to solve—it would entail a reduction of rates, an increase in the use of water and regaining of industrial consumers. They pointed out the loss of industrial consumers and drop in water consumption in the last 10 years apparently has crippled the ability of the waterworks to earn a profit at reasonable rates. Whether the city should undertake the task of solving the problem is a question the voters must decide on May 12.

Possibility of rate reductions in future years is related closely to the prospective surplus or "profit" the municipal plant might hope to make each year. Bond house representatives have pictured a prospective surplus of $25,000 annually, but this does not appear justified according to the formula used by waterworks experts interviewed by The Star. On the basis of their computation, a study indicates the prospective surplus would be nearer $10,000, a figure which experts indicated would make no appreciable reduction in rates.

It is significant that this study assumes the city would operate the plant as economically as the private company and that the allowance for depreciation purposes used in the study is only one per cent or $13,000 a year. Many of the experts interviewed expressed the opinion the cost of operating the plant under municipal ownership would be greater than that of the private company. Several of them expressed the opinion that more than $15,000 a year should be allowed for depreciation if Marion were to avoid difficult problems such as those faced by Mansfield and Bucyrus. Both cities are considering rate increases to finance replacements and repairs for the plant because no depreciation reserve account was built up.

Plant Appraisal
A study of the adequacy of the waterworks system indicates the source of supply and pumping equipment excepting for needed reserve pumps, are capable of handling five times as much as the present consumption of water daily. However it is in need of extensions of pipes. Fire Chief T. J. McFarland said at least 23 extensions should be made to provide fire protection to all parts of the city. The National Board of Fire Underwriters cites the need for larger mains in several sections and says reserve pumps are needed at the plant. Waterworks experts assert cities can not refuse to make extensions as easily as a private company because political pressure is brought upon city officials. Thus, it appears the city, if planning for municipal operation of the plant, must prepare either to make costly extensions or provide a satisfactory answer for residents of unserved sections of the city who will want water for fire protection, sanitary reasons and convenience.

System of Management
If the city takes over the plant, virtually full authority for its operation and the fixing of rates will be held by the service director. The director is a personal appointee of the mayor, and it is customary for each mayor to appoint a new director. As a result, the city faces prospects of operation of the plant being placed in new hands with every change of administration. In view of the fact that service directors frequently are appointed because of their political connections as well as their qualifications for the job, the city would have to be on guard constantly to protect the plant against political interference. In some cities the waterworks department has been filled with political appointees, delinquent accounts have been permitted to reach high totals and lines have been extended for the accommodation of one or two families as a result of politics. Application of civil service laws might hold the turnover of minor employees to a minimum, but the service director as head of the plant can not be placed under civil service. In connection with possible political interference with a municipal utility service, Marion residents will recall the 1935 council dipped into the city garbage and rubbish collection department's surplus late last year to get enough money to restore 1935 pay cuts, although it was necessary in doing so to repeal an ordinance which provided the department's surplus was to be kept solely for purchase of new equipment or other needs of that particular department.

Pending Rate Negotiations
If the city does not take over the plant, rate negotiations, which have been shelved for 90 days, probably will be resumed. Water company officials have indicated they will seek higher rates and city officials have announced they will ask for a reduction. It appears probable that rate negotiations, if resumed, will end in a rate fight before the state utilities commission. Neither city nor water company officials have predicted what future rates might be.

Financing Proposal
The financing plan that will be used to pay off waterworks bonds in the city takes over the plant definitely binds the city to collect high enough water rates during the next 40 years to meet operating costs and pay for the bonds. Waterworks experts interviewed by The Star suggested it would be well for the city to be just as concerned about protecting its residents from hardship in the form of high water rates during that period as the bond houses were in making certain the bonds would be paid. Although a mortgage given to secure the bonds covers only the waterworks property, bond brokers and the bonds are nevertheless a city obligation and the city must pay them either in water rates or taxes. If the city defaults in payments, they pointed out, the bondholders still have adequate protection against loss.

In the opinion of municipal bond authorities, the 4.5 per cent interest rate the city has agreed to pay on the bonds probably could be lowered to four per cent if the bonds had been offered for competitive bids. However, the 1935 council sacrificed its right to take bids when it entered into a contract with Chicago and Cincinnati bond houses last June 13. Negotiations for both the financing contract and for purchase of the plant were conducted in secret meetings and the public had little opportunity to learn about the waterworks purchase until after council had closed the deal.

Procedure Criticized
Despite the criticisms and pleas of Mayor Frederick C. Smith, who at that time was not yet a public official, the 1935 administration used substitutes in the place of official sources of information to guide them in two vital phases of the purchase negotiations. One was the use of the bond house engineers' appraisal of the plant and the second was the use of former Mayor Clarence A. Bollin's "post card poll" to learn public sentiment on the purchase proposal. Waterworks experts asserted the bond house engineers' appraisal could not be taken as a satisfactory substitute for one that should have been made by city-hired engineers. Many Marion residents, including several members of the 1935 city administration, publicly said they did not regard the post card poll as a satisfactory substitute for an official vote on the waterworks purchase.

Only Bare Majority Needed
City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart said a 51 per cent majority will decide the referendum questions. Although it is presumed the vote will be virtually identical on all three questions, city officials have figured out the consequences in the event of a divided result. If the first ordinance should be approved and the other two rejected, city officials would have an indication that voters approve purchase of the plant but not at the terms and conditions agreed to by the 1935 council. If the first and second ordinances should be affirmed and the third one rejected, the terms of the purchase would be approved but the 1935 council's award of sale of the bonds to the Chicago and Cincinnati bond houses would be rejected and the bonds then could be offered for competitive bids, in the opinion of City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart.

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

John Hamilton
By The Associated Press
John Hamilton, the young attorney from Topeka, Kansas, has been one of the more surprising sky-rockets of this year's presidential campaign.
He has been active in Kansas politics as a member of the state legislature and as state Republican chairman. But when he opened "London for President" headquarters in Washington this spring people elsewhere still were asking "who is John Hamilton?"

He is a young, energetic man with marked executive ability. Half his time is spent conferring with Republican leaders in many states to the end that Gov. Alf M. London, of Kansas, will be chosen by the Republicans at Cleveland.

He was so convinced of London's eligibility that he divested himself from Republican national headquarters where he held the post of general counsel, to direct the London boom. He will go to the national convention to garner sheaves among the uninstructed delegations.

Kiwanians Hear Mayor Explain Need of Levy

Tells of Serious City Finance Situation Despite Adoption of Expense Reduction Program.

Why city officials determined to ask the voters of Marion to pass a 3.2 mill tax levy at the May 12 primary and to what use they expect to put the revenue derived from the levy was discussed by Mayor F. C. Smith before the Marion Kiwanis club in its weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Marion yesterday.

The mayor discussed the economy program instituted by his administration, declaring the city cut expenses to the bone and "put its house in order" before officials determined to go before the voters with a levy proposal.

The club also heard F. R. Harris, superintendent of schools of Greenville, O., who has traveled extensively, in a talk, "Flying Down the Andes."

Bringing out the salient features of the levy proposal the mayor discussed the developments that preceded the decision to ask for additional funds to operate the city government.

Has "Real Merit"

"In the 'tax place'" Mayor Smith said, "I must consider any tax levy extremely meritorious before I will give it my support. I believe this levy has real merit."

"In the first place there is no question but that the city faces a shortage of money to carry on its ordinary functions. When you consider that last year the county certified to the city something like $240,000 and yet the city ended a year. With this money the mayor said the city expects to use $61,000 to wipe out unpaid bills, $35,000 to bring salaries up from 68 per cent to 75 per cent this year and $33,000 to maintain salaries at this level next year, and $31,000 to meet contractual expense, including water and light bills.

"But in spite of this additional income the city government will be operated on from $20,000 to $15,000 less than last year," Mayor Smith said.

Share for WPA Projects

Besides the specific use already mapped out for the use of the levy revenue the city will use a portion of the income for its share of the cost of a number of WPA projects. Three-tenths of a mill of the total levy will be set aside for this purpose.

In closing his remarks the mayor said it is his policy to operate the city on a "pay as we go" basis.

"For the first time in my memory we have control of the city's finances. Now let's keep control," he said.

In his travel talk Mr. Harris, who referred to himself as a small town pedagogue, described his trip by air last summer through South America and the countries of the Caribbean sea. His interesting account of his travels was embellished with sidelights on the characteristics of the people and history of the countries.

Guests of the club were Dr. C. G. Smith, Dr. S. W. Mattox and John Dayton Woman Discusses Memorial Fund; Camp Plans Made.

Mrs. Charles Gardia, of Dayton, a member of the regional committee of the National Girl Scout organization and an advisor to council in the region, spoke at a meeting of the Marion council Tuesday night with Mrs. Francis Hurst of Vernon Heights boulevard. She discussed the Juliette Low Memorial fund, which was begun in 1927 in memory of the founder of Girl Scouts in America. The fund is built up by penny contributions from Girl Scouts over the country and is used each year to send four hundred scouts from the United States and 15 from six other countries to "Our Chivalry," the Girl Scout home in Adelboden, Switzerland, which was erected as a monument to the friendship and hospitality that is possible among nations.

Arrangements were made for a summer day camp in Marion at which a program of nature study, handicraft, folk dances, games and singing will be offered for all Girl Scouts who wish to attend. Girl Scouts will be permitted to attend camp as many days as they wish at no expense. The time and location of the camp will be announced in the near future. Mrs. Clifford Howser was appointed chairman for a cookie sale which will be held in the fall. Arrangements were completed to send several leaders to Camp Ledgewood, a national training camp for Girl Scout leaders. Courses at the camp will be open to all women over 18 years of age.

Members of the executive committee of the council entertained Mrs. Gastus at dinner at Hotel Harding preceding the council meeting. The next meeting will be held May 28 at the home of the council commissioner, Mrs. Elnor E. Smith of Miami street.

the year with a deficit of $51,000 and that this year the certification is $220,000, or $20,000 less, you can realize the situation we are in.

"In addition to receiving less money than the city had last year, this administration is faced with the necessity of paying off $81,000 in bills represented by last year's deficit. These bills must be paid. They are legal and moral obligations against the city and we must get the money to pay them.

"Realizing that a levy would be needed this year if the city is to pay as it goes, the first thing considered was to go into the nook and cranny to find places where expenses could be cut. We determined to cut expenses to the bone and put our house in financial order. If we had not made these reductions it would have been necessary to cut salaries of firemen, policemen and

Account of Savings
The mayor cited a number of savings made, including abolition of the firemen's and police pension systems, elimination of a clerkship in municipal court and the office of police prosecutor and combination of the offices of service and safety director. In reference to the pension system Mayor Smith told his audience that in the next 15 years, computed on an actuarial basis, these payments would have cost the city $575,000.

The levy, to run for a two-year period, is estimated to raise $85,000.

INDIANA POLICE HOLDING BANDIT

Brady Returned to Hoosier Capital After Arrest in Chicago as Police Slayer.

By The Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS, May 1.—Indiana police brought Alfred Brady back here from Chicago today, to face charges that he killed Sgt. Richard Rivers, one of his fellow officers, last Monday night.

Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, three automobile loads of policemen with the heavily manacled Brady and Margaret Barry, 23, who was arrested with him in Chicago, rolled into the police garage here and a few minutes later the pair was hustled into cells to await further questioning later in the day.

Shoot Way Out
Rivers was killed here Monday night when four gunmen shot their way through a police squad that sought to question them in connection with a jewelry store robbery at Lima, O., earlier this day.

Neither Brady nor Mrs. Barry, who told Police Chief Michael F. Egan in Chicago last night that they would marry Brady "even if we go to the chair," spoke more than a few words when they were brought into police station here.

When the couple was marched from the garage into the detective office Brady walked within a few feet of the two automobiles which police say the gunmen burned early Tuesday in an effort to remove all tell-tale finger prints and bloodstains. Brady glanced at the cars as he passed.

Two Others Held
In the same jail today were Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hart of Indianapolis, taken into custody yesterday by police who said Hart had confessed to having stored automobiles used by the bandit gang.

Officers expected to file formal charges against Hart today on the basis of statements, which they said he made, that he helped the gunmen in their getaway from Indianapolis after the Rivers slaying.

They said they also took jewelry from Mrs. Hart which had been stolen in the Lima robbery.

Police Capt. John Stige of Chicago, who directed the questioning of Brady, announced he was convinced despite his prisoners' recitation of a confession Stige said he had made earlier in the day, that Brady was the slayer of Rivers.

Chief of Police Michael Morrissey of Indianapolis said he too believed Brady was Rivers' killer.

Four Jewelry Robberies Related
CHICAGO, May 1.—Police Capt. Joseph Egan told Alfred Brady, 26, Indiana gunman, today as saying he and members of his gang participated in four jewelry store holdups in Ohio in the last month.

Young Questions Davey About His Campaign Funds

Asks Why Business Is Transacted in Columbus Hotel and Where Money Comes From.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., May 1.—Rep. Stephen M. Young, during a series of questions concerning contributions to Gov. Martin L. Davey and state Democratic Chairman Francis Poulsen last night in a speech at a metal trades temple.

Young and Davey are candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

"When business firms dealing with the state are compelled to pay tribute, taxpayers indirectly pay added costs," Young said.

Ascertaining Davey and Poulsen conferred almost every day at a Columbus hotel, Young said.

"Why is state business transacted there?"

"Who authorized Poulsen to be collector of a huge slush fund?"

"Why must concerns selling to the state make a connection with Poulsen?"

"Why this shakedown for contributions by Poulsen?"

"Does any opponent claim ignorance of racketeering methods which so many Democrats deplore and seek to end?"

"Where did Poulsen obtain the $4,000 in currency found on his person when he unfortunately had an automobile accident near Akron?"

"What has my opponent to say of the enormous slush fund brutally raised to promote his political ambitions?"

Young reiterated his promise to "put an end to the slush fund" and said he would not "wage a political campaign at the expense of taxpayers."

He promised investigations of both the state highway and liquor departments.

SWITCH OF BALLOTS IN PRIMARY BARRED

Democratic ticket in the 1935 primary cannot call for and receive a Republican ballot at the primary, or vice versa.

The law, of course, does not prohibit a voter from changing his party affiliation but the section referred to by Mr. Ritzler sets forth the manner in which such affiliation may be changed.

In reference to such change section 1785-32 reads, "Party affiliation shall be determined by the largest number of candidates of any one party voted for by the electors at the last general election held in even numbered years."

Mr. Ritzler interpreted this clause in this manner: If a Republican voted for more Democratic candidates in the 1934 general election he is considered in the meaning of the law a Democrat. And if he asked for and received a Democratic ballot at the 1935 primary he is entitled to vote the same ballot this year. However, if the voter called for a Republican ballot in the 1935 primary he realigned himself with that party and must accept the same party's ballot this year and will not be able to change his party affiliation so far as a primary election is concerned until the general election this fall.

Mr. Ritzler pointed out that precedent officials have no way of knowing how the voter voted in the 1935 general election, but must accept his oath. They can determine, however, what party ballot he voted in the 1935 primary.

Mr. Ritzler cited a number of instances that have caused precedent officials difficulty in past primaries. Some voters, he said, have refused to tell precinct officials with what party they are affiliated, simply demanding the ballot of one party or another. As a result the deputy clerk has instructed judges to ask voters this question: "What is your political party?"

"What ballot do you want?"

Persons who will be 21 years of age at the general election Nov. 3 will be permitted to vote in the primary, provided they are properly registered. However, they can vote only for candidates seeking nomination for public offices and not on special issues such as the city 32 mill levy and the water plant purchase proposal.

This regulation, Mr. Ritzler said, is due to the fact that the primary is a nomination and not an election so far as candidates for public office is concerned, but the vote on the special issues is final and as a result is considered an election. The reasoning back of the law, Mr. Ritzler explained, is that in voting for a candidate at the primary the voter is simply expressing preference for a candidate who may wish to vote for in the November election. But since the vote on the issues is final the voter under 21 is not qualified to cast a ballot.

Mr. Ritzler also pointed to the provision that requires anyone attempting to influence voters in behalf of any candidate or issue to remain not less than 100 feet away from the voting places.

LAUNDRY MAN WINS COUNCIL REAFFIRMS HOSPITAL ACTION

plan to combine the health department. Dr. Maltz explained that under that plan the federal government would pay one-half of the budget of the combined boards and in addition would furnish a qualified pathologist to the city and county. This suggestion was opposed by Mayor Smith, who maintained that the pathologist's time would be divided between the hospital and the county work.

Read To Board March 2
Dr. Smith, at the March 2 meeting, read the letter from the state health department proposing that the boards be combined. The letter was mailed to him by Dr. Walter H. Hartung, state health director, under date of Jan. 21 and in the communication to which Dr. Maltz referred in his message.

After reading the letter to the board of health Mayor Smith criticized the state department's proposal, asserting that Dr. Hartung and other state health officials do not understand the situation in local communities. The mayor said he did not believe a first class pathologist would be furnished by the federal government and declared that the pathologist who would be available would be under the government's supervision and not local. Dr. Maltz denied this last night, asserting that the state department would have nothing to do with dictating the policy of the local personnel.

According to Dr. Maltz's statement to council last night, under the plan offered by the state department the cost of the health program in Marion city and county would be $22,270. Of this amount the city would contribute $5,570, the county $7,700 and the federal government $9,000. A pathologist would be furnished by the government at a salary of $3,000 a year, $500 more than Dr. LoGrichio receives. The city and county are slightly under the cost of the undivided programs at the present time.

Still Available
Asked after the meeting whether the state department's proposal is still open to the city and county Dr. Maltz replied that they may take advantage of it at the end of any quarter during the year and that it will again be available July 1. Council last night took no action and made no comment on the proposal after Dr. Maltz's speech. Instead Council President R. C. Shars again turned council's attention to the hospital legislation. Dr. Maltz said, after the meeting last night, the next move in consideration of the plan is up to the city. "This same thing is being done in a number of cities in the state and whether Marion is to have the advantages offered by the program, is up to the city administration and the city board of health," Dr. Maltz said.

When Dr. Maltz prepared to outline the state department's proposal to council Mayor Smith asked him if "this is a matter for council or for the city board of health."

"It is a matter for both or for anyone interested in the welfare of Marion," Dr. Maltz replied. Mayor Smith then said Dr. Hartung's proposal had been read to the board of health and discussed at a board meeting.

"I still would like to let city council and the citizens of Marion know what was offered the city in the way of a 'health program,'" Dr. Maltz insisted. Mayor Smith offered no further opposition to the doctor's request to have the state department's offer to council.

Dr. Maltz said Mayor Smith had written the state health department regarding proposals he meant to put through from a standpoint of health. The mayor was told that while some of his proposals had merit others were not in keeping with a good health program.

Explains Requirements
In order to obtain federal funds for a health program it is necessary that full-time health officials be employed. Dr. Maltz told council. With the city and county budgets as they are now and with the help offered by the federal government this community could have full-time officials. "Your health department and your police department should be kept out of politics," he added. Dr. LoGrichio acts as part-time city health commissioner.

Council also authorized the city auditor to pay the salary of Floyd G. Browne, technical supervisor of the sewage treatment works, for February, March and April, the period over which it has lapsed. Mr. Browne's contract expired Feb. 1 and has not been renewed. Questioned by Councilman Rogers about this lapse Service Director John V. Ruth said "the thing has just run on" and that he had not found the time to take the matter up.

By a single vote margin, Wong Lee (above), 40, Melrose, Mass., laundry man was elected a delegate to the Democratic state convention. He is the first Chinese to be so honored in Massachusetts. (Associated Press Photo)

E. F. SCHWEM GETS NEW KRESGE POST

Transferred to Managership of Port Huron, Mich., Store. In Charge Here 6 Years.

Earl F. Schwem, manager of the Kresge 5-10-25 cent store at 144 West Center street for the last six years, has been transferred to a larger store at Port Huron, Mich., and will assume his new position there Monday.

Mr. Schwem will be succeeded here by Russell H. Schristl, who has been associated with the Port Huron store. Mr. Schristl also will assume his new duties Monday.

Since coming to Marion Mr. Schwem has been active in a number of organizations including the Kiwanis club and Hobby club. He is a charter member of the latter and has served as its secretary since the club was organized. As a member of the Kiwanis club he has served for two years as leader for the Edison Junior High school K-Y Seniors Town Council, which is sponsored by Kiwanis.

When the Schwem family will move to Port Huron is not definite, Mr. Schwem said. Their home here is at 510 East Church street.

COUNCIL REAFFIRMS HOSPITAL ACTION

First, I wish to mention that the Marion City hospital is a vital necessity to the city of Marion, and any hospital existence depends upon the good will that it builds up, and upon the confidence that its patrons have in its service. Each attack of this kind, or effort to change the management of the institution, creates a feeling of distrust in the minds of all that something is seriously wrong with the hospital. Nothing hurts a hospital more than the sort of thing asking every two years. Good as it is, it is a disgrace to the city of Marion, and to the Marion Academy of Medicine gave the hospital management earnest consideration relative to the changes which were eventually consummated. We then felt that the set-up was a sincere and earnest effort to take and keep the hospital out of politics, and certainly did not anticipate any precipitate movement such as has been recently buried at you and the Academy of Medicine. Remember please—if at any time there is anything very seriously wrong at the hospital, it will be first called to your attention by the medical fraternity of Marion.

Now approaching the action you and the Marion city board of health took earlier in the year, and the action you are now proposing, I wish to inform you and the citizens of Marion that this city was offered $20,000 from the social security funds to put on a combined city and county health unit with not one cent of additional expense to either. If you wish, I shall read you all of the correspondence on this subject now, or will meet with you at some later time.

The reason that I bring this up now is relative to your pathologist. The state department of health offered to pay him $3,000 per year, which is $500 more than he is getting now. The health commissioner was to receive $400 per year, which is only $100 more than he is getting now. Dr. Smith's $1,440 for your former city health commissioner's salary was lopped off. In fact health would have been administered for $4,000 a year instead of $3,240 or $3,000, as at present, presuming that your part-time city health commissioner is giving half of his time to health work, and taking half of his $2,500 a year salary to add to Dr. Smith's donation of $500 to this salary, and your total is $4,840, or $840 more than our department recommended.

Mayor Smith never answered this proposal, but I learn, through The Marion Star, that the state department would have strings on this money; would not dictate the policy of your own personnel and, in general, did not know much about your health problems in Marion. The people of Marion shall be the judge of this. Let me say emphatically that the state department of health views all health matters from a strictly non-political basis, and would have had nothing to do with the selection of your personnel, other than to see that those you selected were properly qualified, and that you spent your federal money wisely.

Now about your pathologist. I do not know how, and in all justice and respect for a member of the medical profession, I wish to state the following facts:

1st. He was not a resident of Marion.

2nd. He is not interested in public health work, and so has admitted in our department and elsewhere.

3rd. It was contended by Mayor Smith that his department would, in time, be self-sustaining. To date, so far as I can learn, there has been one pay case in his department that was in the hospital over the week-end. Big city laboratories are not self-sustaining from laboratory work alone.

4th. The second day he was on the job he solicited business in Crawford county and told the doctors up in Bucyrus he could spend one or two days a week up in their city. (Your city health commissioner.)

Now, in your financial plight, I thought economy was to be the goal. What kind of economy? Real or false? Asking city police and city firemen to work for less wages; a city nurse to work for $55 a month, and throwing away $4,000 for pathology which has been needed in Marion City hospital, or is not now needed, not withholding the fact that some of our prominent surgeons agreed with Mayor Smith that it was a good thing, and now are hammering away at him on account of the proposed changes at the hospital.

Now as to some constructive recommendations. Why not now and forever take Marion City hospital out of politics? Either through a legislative act or through a trusteeship of prominent civic-minded lay citizens. There are hundreds of letters at the hospital showing good will for the hospital. Why? When was down every two years? When was president of the Academy of Medicine. It was instrumental in a humble way, of instituting a laboratory and X-ray at the hospital. I want you and the

BRAKEMAN HURT IN JUMP FROM ENGINE

Seeks Safety as Locomotives Collide; Others Stay Aboard and Are Uninjured.

Walter Shuster, 39, of 692 Uncolther avenue, an Erie railroad brakeman, suffered a fractured right angle at 7:30 a. m. today when he jumped from a moving locomotive in the Erie yards here.

He was riding a locomotive in charge of Engineer James Robbins, which was being pulled into on a freight run from Dayton. Erie officials said Shuster jumped when he saw another locomotive on the tracks. His ankle was broken as he struck the ground.

The engineer and fireman both stayed with the locomotive and were uninjured as the two engines collided. Damage to the engines was not extensive, Erie officials said.

Shuster was taken to the City hospital in the W. C. Boyd ambulance. His leg was placed in a cast.

180 AT MEETING IN MT. VICTOR

Marion Methodist Society Represented at Annual District Session.

Members of Epworth and W. M. E. societies were in Mt. Victor yesterday in attendance at the annual meeting of the Lima District Conference of the Women's Missionary society, held at Methodist church.

Approximately 180 women of the district were in attendance and about the same number attended the Queen Esther society meeting last night. The welcome was made by James Barkley, president of Wesley society.

Three of the robbers entered the bank, carrying sub-machine guns, while the fourth waited at the wheel of an automobile in front of the bank.

Menacing employees and customers, the men climbed over a teller's cage and accosted the money into a white sack. Only one shot was fired, employees said, but one woman was reported injured in the confusion which followed the sudden raid.

The bank robbery was the first in Detroit since May 3, 1930.

BORAH FLAYS TAFT IN COLUMBUS SPEECH

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 1.—Sen. William E. Borah hammered at the Ohio Republican "favorite-son" plan last night in an address and attacked "monopolistic interests."

The Idaho senator, combating the regular Republican organization for a delegation pledged to his own presidential candidacy, said "I certainly would not trust my candidacy to the tender mercies of the organization in the state of Ohio."

He assailed Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, the "favorite son" candidate, was "not in any sense a candidate for president."

"Of course, Walter Brown (former postmaster general) and a favorite-son candidate for delegate-at-large and Ed Schorr (state party chairman) are just the men to lead the Republican party back to power."

"They've led it so near destruction that it's about time for them to turn around. And, in my opinion, next Tuesday a week, they will turn around."

Sen. Borah said all companies and "other monopolies" were his chief opponents "and might succeed" in defeating him.

"But they will not chance my position," he declared.

"The real fight is between those who want to take the country back to the monopolistic days of 1929 and those who want to destroy monopoly."

Borah asked Taft and other presidential candidates to state whether they considered the Costigan anti-lynching bill constitutional. He said he opposed the bill on the ground that it was unconstitutional and would continue to do so.

Sen. Borah will return to Ohio next Monday for a week's campaigning before the primary May 12.

METHODISTS LAUNCH QUADRENNIAL PARADE

Bishop from Switzerlands Shields Gavel at Opening Session of Conference.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 1.—Disorderly social and economic conditions dropped into the background as delegates to the 32nd annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened a 12-day meeting and prepared to organize their standing committees.

Bishop John L. Nuelson of Switzerland, senior bishop of Methodist church, presided over the opening session of the conference.

Before the adjournment to time prior to May 23, the conference must settle the question of church unification and the question of demands for an expression of social and economic measures by liberal leaders.

A veteran church leader predicted, however, that the first order of the conference would concern selection of the judicial committee of the supreme court of the conference.

A southern California lay committee injected new spirit into the liberal-conservative battle in the church by the presentation of a memorial demanding preachers concern themselves with the personal and spiritual aspects of the gospel, and less its social aspects.

The California group also, in the conference to erase the "of Methodist" from any of the church with a declaration that the church was "unequally opposed to communism, socialism and nazism, or any form of controlled economy that would deprive the rights and liberties of our people guaranteed them by the constitution."

Their demands were second direct blow at the program of Methodist Federation for Social Service, which asked the conference to approve submission of "social ownership" for the seeking economic system.

delayed plans for their wedding. Mrs. Fields testified that the silverware was the same patterns as that taken from her home. Taking the stand in his own defense Reaschum testified he had bought the silverware at a pawn shop.

Find Missing Articles
Arrest of the trio last October resulted from an investigation made here of a number of burglaries in Columbus. When Marion police searched the Hall residence on Silver street they found a quantity of silverware and jewelry hidden under a coal pile. Among the articles were a pencil and string of beads Mr. Malish testified at the Hall trial came from his home.

Marion authorities turned Reaschum over to Columbus police for prosecution on the Fields charge with the understanding that he was to be returned here in case he was not convicted. Prosecutor Michel said.

Night Captain Ora Dewers and Patrolmen Fred Norton and Louis E. Kirts of the Marion police department were called to Columbus to testify in the Reaschum trial.

PATROL SUB-STATION HEAD BACK ON JOB

State Highway Patrolman J. M. Kratzer has returned to duty at the Marion sub-station after a 20-day vacation. The patrolman and Mrs. Kratzer visited relatives and friends in southern Ohio and Indiana.

With the return of Kratzer, who is in charge of the local sub-station, Patrolman C. M. Long was returned here from Bellefontaine and Patrolman W. B. Umpley, in charge here during Kratzer's absence, resumes his post in Bellefontaine.

U. S. JOB SURVEY

WASHINGTON, May 1.—After announcing its stand on taxes, trade agreements and other controversies of the day, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States embarked today on a nationwide study to see how many jobs are available in private industry.

The chamber wound up its 25th annual convention last yesterday by reflecting Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y. as its president and adopting resolutions.

One of them attacked the new deal's tax program, another called for continuation of its reciprocal trade agreements under what were termed "a partial victory in America against." Still others opposed government regulation of wages and hours and competition with private industry.

PARADE BEFORE JURY

The Henderson county grand jury, successor to the panel which indicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the Lindbergh baby killing, today called Ellis H. Parker Sr. in its investigation of the charge that Paul H. Wendel kidnaped the infant.

John V. Ruth said "the thing has just run on" and that he had not found the time to take the matter up.

Green Camp-To-Marion Relay Set for May 16

The second annual Green Camp-to-Marion relay race sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. for members of the city relay club will be held Saturday morning, May 16, it was announced today by Donald D. Gram, Y physical director. Twelve teams will compose each of the teams.

The race to get under way at 10 a. m. will start from the public square at Green Camp and finish at the courthouse. Last year the relay was won by the Harding chapter of the H. Y. when Lamar Paugh, another man of the squad, put on a last spring to overtake Richard Curran of the Edina H. Y. team. Both of the squads, along with the Tower H. Y., Falcon, Atkinson and Four Square clubs will participate this year.

Under favorable conditions the time of the race is expected to be lowered. The fact that a majority of the boys who were entered last year will continue this season may help to cut down the record time of 35.5 minutes.

One of the fastest half mile laps taken in during the first running of the relay was by Rex Frazier, who ran his distance in two minutes flat, over an exceptionally rough stretch of road. The course for the 1936 running of the relay will be laid out several days before the race, at which time the official timers will be named.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild and effective. It absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

PUPILS TO TREAT CORN FOR DISEASE

The Waldo vocational agriculture department has arranged for seed corn treating service to the farmers of the community. Levi H. Lukens, instructor, announced today.

According to Mr. Lukens, the treatment offered is effective in controlling diseases carried on the seed, particularly root rot which alone destroys more than $600,000 bushels of corn a year.

The class built a revolving drum into which the seeds are placed. Revolutions of the drum coat all seed with a disinfectant in from two to three minutes. The machine has been put into use for treating corn sent by farmers of the community as well as by members of the Waldo High School Seed Co.

Former War Nurse Battles Greece's Malaria Mosquito

By The Associated Press
MARATHON, Greece, May 1.—What has been termed the second battle of Marathon in reality an extensive campaign against the anopheline malaria-carrying mosquito, is being directed here by an American woman Miss Alice G. Carr of Yellow Springs, O.

The battle is but one of many which Miss Carr has waged against human suffering and disease since after serving as a front line Red Cross nurse during the World War she turned her attention to peace time struggles.

Lauded by Citizens
Here in Greece she has received not only official decorations, but the praise and thanks of thousands of citizens. A simple practitioner has described her as part of Joan of Arc and partly Florence Nightingale.

In 1922 she took a prominent part in the seemingly hopeless task of finding food and shelter for the more than a million Greeks who were forced to leave their homes in Asia Minor to seek refuge in the homeland across the Aegean.

Then in Athens she conducted a school with an enrollment of more than 5000 women for the prevention of tuberculosis.

Now with the cooperation of Rockefeller Foundation physicians and representatives of Anthony Bonaroti, minister of agriculture and well known Greek philanthropist she is waging war here against dirt and age-old ignorance.

In Former Case
Her medium here is reaching some 3000 persons in the Near East center, a village cafe made over into a combination of clinic and school. Miss Carr is personally supervising classes for the bettering of health conditions, advising on matters of personal hygiene and dirt as well as directing peasant women in new ways of earning a livelihood.

In her efforts to eliminate malaria she is striking at a disease which in Greece has been disastrous throughout the ages. The anopheles attributed it to the work of evil spirits. Today malaria in Greece is being conquered.

To combat the disease the Near East foundation is using crude oil and has an ally in a small larvae-eating fish imported from America and called the gumbusia. This fish Mrs. Carr is spreading by the millions over the swamps to impede the breeding of the mosquito.

Can Check Malaria
She also is interested in the discovery by an Athenian physician, Dr. Darnion Sotiriades, who says he can check malaria by injection of a small quantity of blood from a cured patient into the skin tissues of patients in acute stages of the disease.

To the question why do you give your time and attention to Greece far from the United States? Miss Carr has a direct answer.

I have to be doing things where I feel I am most needed.

Besides she adds "public health organization in the United States has reached a point of near perfection and there are fronts abroad where knowledge of what has been accomplished in America might be used to advantage."

A graduate of Antioch college in Yellow Springs, O. and of Johns Hopkins training school for nurses in Baltimore, Miss Carr is today a quick vigorous active woman with a ready smile and a capacity for getting things done.

DOUBLE your money back IF you want it! But we don't think you will. Women who try Spry are so enthusiastic over it, so completely carried away by its many advantages, that you couldn't hire them to go back to ordinary shortenings again!

You'll love Spry's whiteness, its wonderful creamy smoothness. And here's a tip. Don't keep Spry in the refrigerator. You don't have to. For Spry is a purer, all-vegetable shortening. It stays fresh and sweet at ordinary room temperature. So keep Spry right on your pantry shelf. It will always be the right consistency for quick, easy creaming.

Fry in Spry—it's grand!

Do you dread frying? You won't when you use Spry. No smoke, no smell in the kitchen. No food flavors or odors absorbed. Spry stays sweet and clear after repeated fryings. You can use it again and again.

Madge Reichen Secret Letter From Marion in Envelope Sent to Mrs. Ticer

As Mrs. Ticer thrust a letter in her mailbox with the words "the truth" or "my mind" he had as I imagine might a look in his eye which rapidly along the track is suddenly and directly switched to another. It followed along threatened to topple over entirely, and finally adjust itself to the new situation.

I had schooled myself to meet new and perhaps sinister developments in the matters of Jack Lerick's accomplices and of the men lying upon us. But I never had dreamed of receiving a letter from a young daughter in this roundabout fashion.

From Marion? I heard myself saying taking the letter from her hands. Then I remembered my manners and drew forward a chair for her.

I read it down. I sat and exhaled while I read this. I can't at all say she said exactly what I thought a minute after I told her about this. I got a pie in the eye but when I got this out of the box—the mail just came I said to myself. I'll just have to see the pie. Miss Graham has to see this right away so here I'll put it in my hand.

I was galled for breath but I saw that her words were trembling on her lips and I did not open the letter. I had taken from the envelope a card by a read this one time she was bringing out a larger envelope and sheet of paper from her box. This was addressed to me and the letter to you was in side it.

With bewilderment still strong upon me I took the big envelope and single sheet of paper from her unfolded the sheet and read the few typewritten words thereon—the envelope was a typewritten as was the one Mrs. Ticer had handed me.

Requiesce, secrecy

Dear Mrs. Ticer: It began with out heading or date line.

Don't let Jerry or anybody see this letter. I am writing it and addressing the envelope on a typewriter as nobody will know my writing. Will you please burn this outside envelope and letter and deliver the other letter to Auntie Madge as soon as possible? Don't let anybody else not even my mother see it. I am sending it to you because I'm afraid somebody on the farm might see it for it must be a dead secret for a few days. I know I can depend on you dear Mrs. Ticer. Thanks a lot in advance. I'll see you.

Lovingly yours MARION

When I looked up from this astounding epistle my good neighbor was openly sniffling.

The dear child! she said wiping her eyes. She knew she could depend on me. But she got me worried just the same. It seems so queer her not wanting her mother to know. Surely she hasn't got her self into some scrape at school she's always so good?

Nonsense! I smiled although nervously I was as anxious and bewildered as was she. Now I probably can't tell you what's in this letter but I at least can tell you whether you have cause for uneasiness. Wait please till I read it.

Wait she ejaculated. You couldn't get me out of here with a mile team.

I read the letter through rapidly.

The — Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

LOVE-INSURANCE

This is the time of year when an eligible and a suitable man goes around with a card on his pulse "for" or "against" and an alibi on his lips.

He is suffering from a phobia. The marriage phobia. And every girl who smiles a him looks like a dangerous signal. He knows that he could take out some sort of love-insurance.

That is because he does not understand himself. If he did he would know that there are certain moods and times when even an impressionable man is a man's proof regardless of spring and the moon.

So long as a man is husky happy and contented his business is going right. His digestion is working on all cylinders and his friends are plentiful. He need never fear that he will slide into marriage. He doesn't need any woman to sympathize with him.

But when he is lonely or feeling disappointed and abused he is easy picking for any girl who will listen to his troubles and help him to feel sorry for himself.

No man need fear that he may fall in love with one woman when he is already half in love with several. But when a love affair has gone on the rocks and he is feeling distrustful, disillusioned and bored he had better watch his step and keep away from women. Especially from the good little pal type.

So long as a man is crapped up in his work absorbed in his ambitions and filled with his business schemes from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. he hasn't an emotion or a thought for any woman. Jean Warner and Greta Garbo would just be washing their time on his face.

But when the job begins to get on his nerves and he begins to bore him and the dog or sends him away for a little vacation, then he has a jay walker caught in the midst of traffic. And it is worth a question of which woman will get him.

As long as a man has plenty of women to flatter him admire him and adore him he is practically immune to marriage. He doesn't need anybody to help him love himself.

But when something or somebody has dealt him a box to the ear or filled him with an inferiority complex and little cheer leader who comes along with a bowl of apple sauce can make himself his dream girl and start parking her nose on his chest.

No man should be himself startled up with a woman when he is ill or weak or discouraged and has no fight left in him. He is too dazed to see where he is going or what he is getting.

The moment for him to let him self go and choose a wife's when he is feeling on top of the world and can select with his eyes wide open. For that is the only time when he carries Love-insurance. (Copyright 1935 by H. E. Rowland)

Daily Pattern for Home Use BY ANNE ADAMS

NECESSITIES IN CHECKED FASHION MAKE YOUNGESTER'S FANTASY FRICK GAY

It's time to check up on Little's wardrobe, too, so Anne Adams has provided a frock that is the answer to any very young maiden's prayer. The pattern of this frock are equally new with, or without the belt, the full, short skirt allows plenty of room for active young. The perky puff sleeves are easy to wear as they are easy to take and the round, trim collar is decidedly "grown up" touch. Now it is in the checked gingham, or choose a gayly striped or broadcloth—they say to tub and wear very well. In dotted Swiss, dimity or organdy.

Pattern 2637 is available in sizes 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 takes 2 1/2 yds. of 36-inch fabric. Illustrated by step-by-step instructions in 15¢ fifteen cents (15¢) in color. (Color preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly. Address and style number: 2637 to state size.

Get our new Anne Adams pattern book and learn how easily one can make a smart summer dress that's just your style! Just frocks, suits, blouses; and vacation clothes; bridal and lovely clothes for children. Smart styles for adults. And
